Weather Forecasts for Sailors and Adventurers

Media Kit

2017/2018

OVERVIEW

Founded in 2007, PassageWeather.com is one of the most visited sailing weather websites on the internet. We have a worldwide audience that is very keen on sailing - both cruising and racing - especially in large ocean-going yachts. In fact, the majority of professional yacht captains and recreational yacht owners visit PassageWeather.com on a regular basis.

Our weather forecasts are updated several times a day, so many of our users come back to the site multiple times a day.

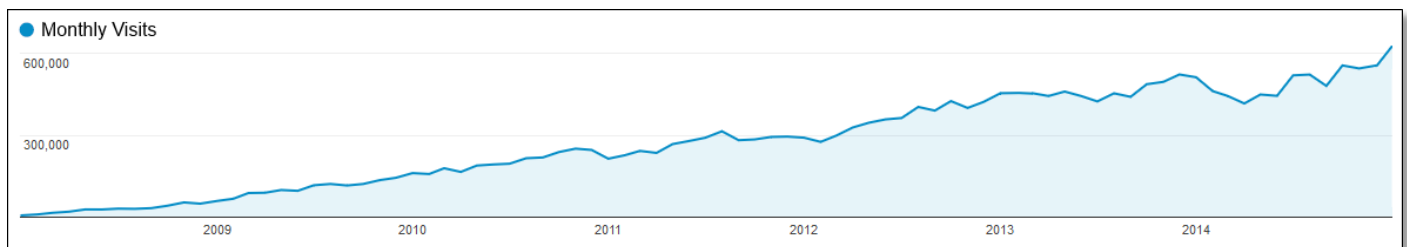

Advertising with PassageWeather.com is a great way to put your brand name, services or products in front of those sailors who actually go out and sail.

With 3 million pageviews each month, PassageWeather.com provides businesses with a great marketing vehicle for reaching a quality audience with strong buying power. We invite you to align your brand with a highly popular website that reaches educated, affluent adults with disposable income. We offer a variety of packages in reaching your target audience and also provide customized programs to suit your particular marketing needs

OCEANS OF POTENTIAL CUSTOMERS

In the past 8 years, we have seen our website traffic grow from just 200 visits per day to more than 20,000 visits per day, and it continues to grow.

We currently serve over 3.3 Million pageviews/month, and see more than 700,000 visits to the site by 230,000 absolute unique visitors... and these monthly numbers continue to rise.

Our users have visited from 203 countries/territories, with 25% of these visits coming from North America, 25% from Southern Europe, 15% from Western Europe, and 10% from Northern Europe. The Caribbean region, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa combined make up another 15%.

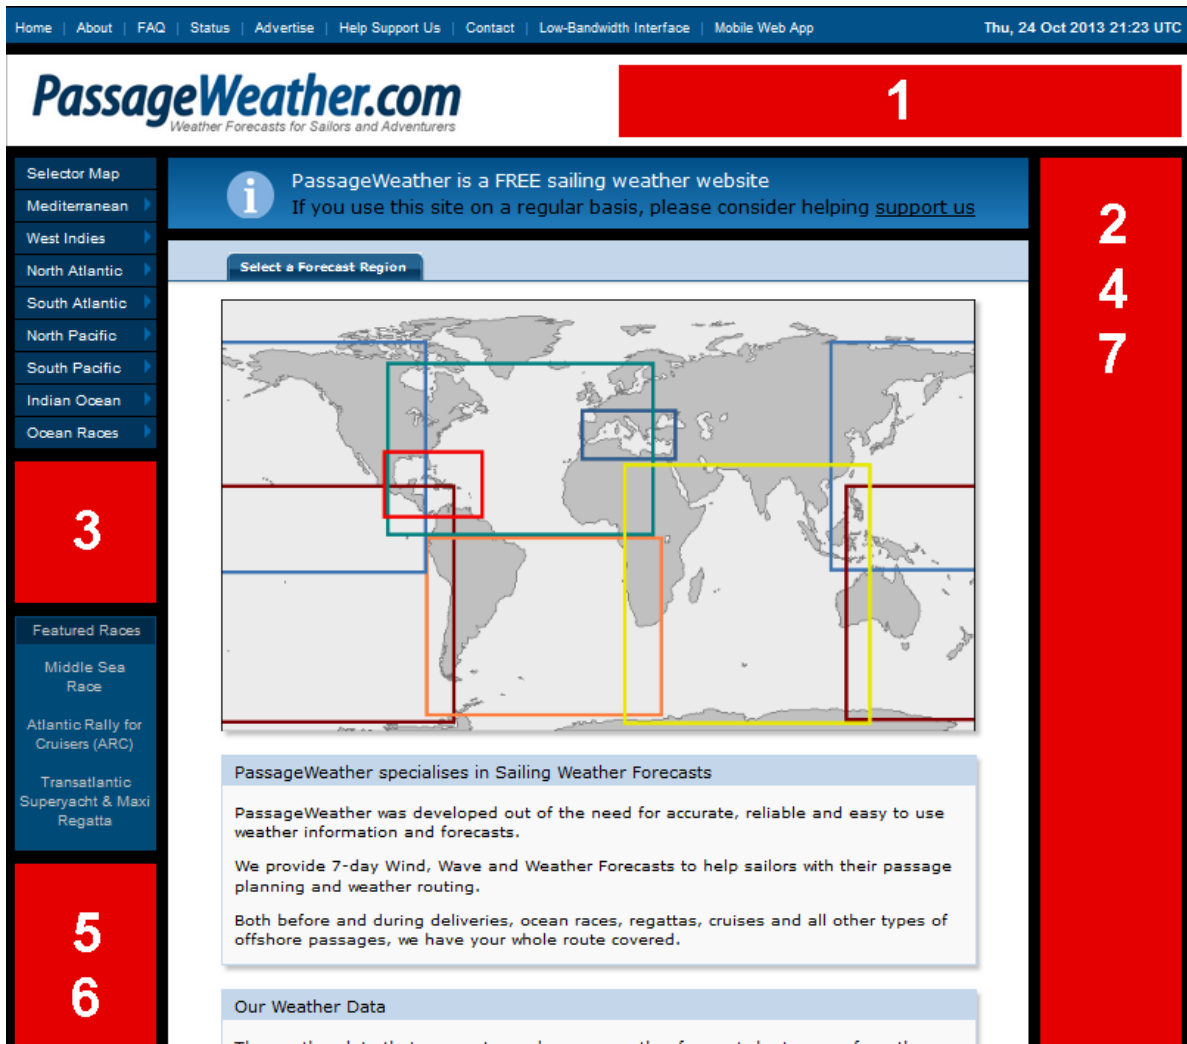

Over 75% of these visitors return to the site on a regular basis.
